VISION TO ACTION: ADVANCING THE SOCIETY

THE DELTA KAPPA GAMMA SOCIETY INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION

By Patricia Crouse, Kappa Chapter

The theme advanced by The Delta Kappa Gamma Society International President Dr. Carolyn Rants was threaded throughout the convention held July 20-24 in Spokane, Washington.

The convention opened with an outdoor reception and jazz music as members and their guests strolled along the park and greeted DKG friends and sisters. Among these were thirty-six members from twenty Pennsylvania chapters. Six members experienced an international convention for the first time. All participants could be distinguished by the bright blue polypropylene bags made from recycled materials and by their name badges with attached ribbons listing First Convention, I Hug, DKG Family, Chapter Officer, Chapter President, I Blog and I Twitter on them.

The first keynote address was delivered by John Brock, CEO of the Coca-Cola Company and son/nephew of DKG members. His talk, Leadership in a Global Society, emphasized the importance of having a vision and distinguished the differences between leaders and managers. His remarks, based on his business background, were shaped by values passed down in his family. Mr. Brock challenged members to live with faith, optimism, integrity, and empathy in order to build a better world.

State President's Message

By Susan Stamm

Having just returned from our International Convention in Spokane, Washington, I want to share with you what a privilege it was for me to be your representative at the International Executive Board. And what a learning experience it was, too! Our state was well represented, and I know that you will be hearing about what a great convention it was from many of your sisters in the weeks and months to come. We heard from top-notch speakers, among them Amanda Gore.

Many of you enjoyed her video "Leading out Loud" at fall area conferences two years ago. What a treat it was to see her in person! Please be sure to read Pat Crouse's article on the whole convention in this issue.

I also had the distinct honor of casting our state's votes for Dr. Lyn Schmid to serve as the Northeast Regional Director for the 2010-2012 biennium and for nominating Elizabeth Brewer, Pennsylvania's US Forum liaison, to serve as our Northeast representative on the International US Forum Committee for the next two years. Suzanne Long has just informed us that she has been invited to serve on the International Non-Dues Revenue Committee for this biennium. As you can see, our state will be represented at the International level for the next two years.

Many hours were spent sitting in sessions listening to the reading of the new Constitution, proposing amendments and voting on those motions. Finally on Friday afternoon the delegates voted to accept the new Constitution as amended. Carol Herbert's article gives you the highlights and the effect it will have on your chapters. Take time to read what Carol has written. Since the new Constitution goes into effect immediately, copies should be available by the time you read this.

Other important highlights of the convention were:

The unveiling of Our Heritage III, a DVD that records the 1970-2008 accomplishments, activities, and contributions the Society has made to education and educators around the world. Copies were sold for the first time and now are available for ordering from headquarters.

Upon recommendation from the Administrative Board, the Executive Board voted to accept a new International project-Schools for Africa. Once again we will be partnering with UNICEF to give our support. You will be hearing more about this project later. At our state level, we will continue to work on "Feeding America: Body, Mind and Soul" through next June.

Dr. Virginia P. (Jensi) Souders, Tennessee, was installed as the 2010-2012 International President. Her biennial theme will be "Embracing our Vision; Designing our Future." Look for her articles in future DKG News issues as she shares her plans for the next two years.

In order to embrace our vision of Delta Kappa Gamma and design our future, we need to be passionate about what we are doing. Discover what your passion is for DKG. Can you imagine what we could accomplish if all our small flames of passion were combined? We could create a bonfire that would ignite the mission and vision of The Delta Kappa Gamma Society! As this new biennium starts in your chapters, I encourage you to take an active role. Get passionate, attend your meetings, invite a colleague to join you, make a contribution to your chapter and just watch what can be accomplished.

During this second year of my biennium, I look forward to connecting with you via your newsletters and visits to your chapter meetings. If your

MEMBERSHIP

By "Annie" (aka Kay Stuart, Membership Chairman)

Dear Annie,

I didn't attend the International Convention in Spokane, but I heard there were changes made in the Constitution. Were there changes in who can become a member?

May B. Joining

Dear May,

There were nearly 40 PA members who attended the convention and voted on the many changes made to the Constitution and By-Laws. I want to say a big thank you to those women who sat through that very long process.

A major change is Article III, Section B, 1. It now states that "an active member shall be a woman who is employed as a professional educator or has been retired from an educational position. An active member shall participate in the activities of the Society." This reduces the number of years as "professional educator" for membership eligibility from 3 years to 0 years, and makes no limit to the number of years "after retirement" for membership eligibility. So you can invite that young, key woman educator or that retired educator who now has time to work for the Society to join your chapter. I know that some chapters feel strongly about the old membership requirements. Remember the chapter can still maintain those old requirements. The International Constitution was amended to allow for flexibility.

Other changes of note are the addition of Article III, Section A, 2. "An individual becomes a member of the Society when she is initiated. She is initiated only once." Article III, Section B, 2b deleted the requirement that a chapter vote to restore a reserve member to active membership. Article III, Section B, 3 deleted the requirement that prospective chapter honorary members live within the chapter area. Article III, Section F deleted the requirement that a chapter vote to reinstate a former member.

I hope I have explained these to your satisfaction. We will all wait for International to make the full document available to us. Please feel free to contact me if you have questions.

Dear Annie,

Since joining DKG, I've served our chapter in various leadership roles. I know it is an honor to be asked to part of the organization and there are so many great ways to help students in our community. But, I'm honestly not feeling fulfilled through my membership at this point. We're definitely caught in the 10% of the people do 90% of the work. Do you have any thoughts that can help?

Hadda Nuff

Dear Hadda,

You sound like someone who is indeed a key woman educator. You have supported the Society in the many projects and activities, and understand the impact that your chapter can have on women and children in your community.

First, it is important that you revitalize yourself. Have you had the opportunity to attend any state or international events? Fall area conferences, state convention, Northeast Regional Conference in Hershey are all coming up. These combined with the Purposeful Living Seminar and the Arts Retreat are events that revitalize and refresh me.

Secondly, we need to empower the other members to take on the leadership roles. We all benefit from other ideas and methods of doing the work of the Society. Many of our women don't understand this. Examine your chapter's "personality" and leadership needs. Research needs to be done to determine why your chapter members are unwilling to take on the leadership roles. Perhaps they have not recognized their own talents and how those talents can be used. Is the chapter open to new ways of doing things? Perhaps they feel stifled by regimen and tradition. Do they feel that they cannot devote the time to a particular project or office? Your state officers can help with the research and leadership training. We need to encourage your sisters to use their gifts for the benefit of our Society, for women, and for children. Please keep in touch. ■

"Where Do Butterflies Go When it Rains?"

By Louann Shrader, Program of Work Chairman

Years ago I remember reading a story to my Kindergarten classes that asked the most important and poignant question, "Where do butterflies go when it rains?" The answer escapes me, but the question continues to be a haunting one...continuing in a DKG Program of Work mentality mode a follow-up question may be, "What does the program committee do after the planning is done?" As with the fate of butterflies the answer lies with a need that propels them in another direction. With a Program Committee, the need is to follow through to ignite interest and passion in the Purposes of the Society.

The course is set; chapters have planned and are beginning a new biennium. Programs have been planned that fit with a chapter's mission and goals. What is your chapter's mission or goals-increase visibility, promote a 'green' culture, increase membership, increase involvement, etc? Whatever the goal, the Chapter Program Committee remains the MVP to achieve the direction your chapter takes. With planning completed and imagination and innovation tapped, the hope is that involvement of every member can take place. For a Program Committee it's time to ignite the passion within. Passion is the key to achieving the mission and vision of each chapter as it is within the State Organization and International Society. It may sound like an overwhelming and unobtainable task, but it is one that teachers are particularly good at since they spend their lives trying to motivate those individuals that others have given up on. The Program Committee now needs to become the MVPs of Program ignition. The key is to get excited! Excitement breeds excitement, and through motivation, involvement can take place. Create the steps, no matter how minor, that will start passion within your chapter. Try this to stir the embers and increase the passion in your chapter.

- ❖ Point out the purposes achieved with each program.
- ❖ Always expect positive results, follow-up, and Ask for member input on how a program can be used by individuals whether actively teaching or retired.
- ❖ Send notes of appreciation to those who have contributed and Shared expertise via program presentation.
- ❖ Spotlight and Seek out the expertise of all members and Search for ways to connect, especially with members not in attendance.

- ❖ Imagination is fun. Innovation and Instruction continue to Involve all members regardless of professional tenure.
- ❖ Offer Outstanding Opportunities for all members via a followup on a particular program format. (freebies or coupons related to a program usually spark a positive note)
- ❖ Never let the excitement wane. Note ideas that can lead a vision in another direction.

What does the Program of Work do when the planning is over? Nothing can be achieved without passion. The MVPs (most valuable persons) need to continue to strive and help each member realize the MVP* (Mission, Vision, & Passion) within.

Personal Growth

By Carol Goodman, Chairman

Did you know that our very own Annie Webb Blanton has an organization named for her? Annie's List of Texas is an organization whose goal is to support women in Texas politics. The women of Texas recognize Dr. Annie as "a trailblazer and the first woman elected to statewide office in Texas in 1918."

The purposes of Annie's List are to:

- ❖ Target legislative and down-ballot statewide races
- ❖ Recruit, train and support progressive women to run for office
- ❖ Train and place professional campaign staff on targeted races
- ❖ Raise early money so that women become viable contenders
- ❖ Engage and activate women voters on behalf of endorsed candidates

I discovered this fact when I was researching a quote from Dr. Annie to include in the Spiritual Unity Service for convention 2010. Annie said, "Everything that helps wear away age-old prejudices contributes to the advancement of women and of humanity." I think Dr. Annie would be very proud to know that women in her state think enough of her to keep her spirit alive.

RESEARCH COMMITTEE TO BE DISCONTINUED

By Cindy Reynolds, Chairman

In an article in the fall issue of the DKG News, it was stated that "the Task Forces concurred that each international committee should do the research pertaining to its work, and other research should be handled by ad hoc committees appointed only when such research is needed. Therefore, the Research Committee should be discontinued." This proposal was adopted at the International Convention in Spokane, Washington and may as a result, affect the committee structure at both the state and chapter levels. The Constitutional revision does state that "state organizations and chapters may fulfill their constitutional responsibilities by establishing committees as needed."

Each of the articles which has appeared in this column throughout this past year has focused on working toward a smooth transition if the recommendations at International for the committee restructuring were passed at the convention in July. It is now official and the Research Committee has been discontinued effective July 1, 2010.

To assist the other committees to transition to utilizing research for their own committee work, the state research committee designed and distributed a business card as an easy reference with the 7 Steps to the Decision-Making Process for All Committees listed. It is the premise that "research is the heart of committee work." The business cards were distributed at the state convention, are available on the state website, and will also be available at the fall area conferences.

To be "forward moving ever," it is recommended that chapters update their strategic plans and include specific needed research objectives in them as it applies to all committees. Some possible examples of what would be in the revision could include the following: the data should be revisited at the beginning of each biennium; program ideas and presentations could be written and saved in the chapter archives; and specific purposes of the archives could be listed.

Two goals of the State Research Committee over this past year were to acquire the following information and have it available to chapters and at the state level:

❖ CHAPTER DEMOGRAPHIC PROFILE:

Since loss of membership in the Society is a major concern, maintaining this information is critical to each chapter as well as the state membership and expansion committees. It is a goal of the Alpha Alpha State Research Committee to secure the demographic profile from each chapter in the state prior to March 1, 2011. The information will then be compiled and distributed for the other state committees.

❖ DATA BASE OF WORKSHOP AND PROGRAM PRESENTERS:

Once compiled, this on-going listing of information will be available to chapters as well as committees at the state level. Utilization of this tool will make the work of committees much easier to plan presentations, programs, and workshops at the chapter, state, regional, and international levels.

In order to accomplish these two goals by the end of the biennium, a member of the state research committee will be making a personal contact to secure the form from the chapters who have not yet compiled and submitted their chapter demographics form. They will also encourage chapters to submit the names of individuals who present workshops and programs to become a part of the listing in the state database.

Professional Affairs News

By Bonnie Lee Barnes
Professional Affairs Committee Member

Your Professional Affairs committee is in the process of selecting workshops for the Alpha Alpha State Convention in June, 2011. We need your suggestions and while you are thinking of interesting programs, also consider submitting a "Workshop Presenters" form that will be available at all fall area conferences or online. DKG's Research Committee has been diligently establishing a library of program presenters that can be contacted to schedule programs to meet future needs. Having this library of presenters will enable your chapter to select programs of interest as well as aid the Professional Affairs Committee in considering relevant workshop programs for state convention. We will need at least 10 workshops for our upcoming state convention addressing personal and professional growth. So, if you know of someone, please submit a "Workshop Presenters" form and share your information. Professional Affairs needs all workshop applications by December 1, 2010 so that we can select the best and most interesting workshops for you.

In reference to our new International theme of Music and dance filled the auditorium as Scottish bagpipers, Highland dancers, Celtic dancers, and youth choirs entertained and spotlighted local talent. A dessert reception and a gift of pressed rosebud note cards were the final gifts of the evening.

The Vision to Action theme continued in the second keynote speech. Amanda Gore from Australia provided a living example of "Spirited Leadership from Vision to Action." Her lively, humorous presentation based on Emotional Intelligence, neuroscience, and epigenetics had the entire audience participating joyfully. Don't be surprised if convention delegates can't wait to share her joy-filled "sparkly bits" techniques with all their DKG sisters and school staffs. To use Amanda's words, her presentation challenges us to have the vision to move to action and to celebrate the "Ta-Da!" moments in life.

Liz Brewer was chosen to be the Northeast Representative to the U.S. Forum. The U.S. Forum is the DKG liaison which works to represent the interest of children, schools, women, and DKG members before the United States Congress. Liz has been a member of DKG since 1982.

State President Sue Stamm represented the state on the International Executive Board.

Forty-one members of the Pennsylvania delegation and their guests gathered at Luigi's Restaurant to celebrate Pennsylvania Night on July 22.

Anne Marie Rhodes was the third keynote speaker. Her topic, "Culture Waves: Trends for the Future," blended visions of the trends for the future which will impact our lives. She used Anticipation, Adoption, and Acceptance to distinguish three major group/waves of users of new technologies and trends.

Thursday evening was highlighted by a reception at the Davenport Hotel to honor Dr. Lyn Schmid's confirmation as Northeast Regional Director. To underscore her leadership of the Northeast Regional Conference July 19-23, 2011 in Hershey, PA, the refreshments included a chocolate fountain and favors of Hershey's Kisses and miniature Hershey candy bars.

The final keynote speaker was Christopher Rants, son of DKG President Dr. Carolyn Rants and Speaker of the Iowa House of Representatives. Mr. Rants helped the members to understand effective methods of working with state and federal legislators as we move from vision to action to influence educational policies.

Mary Furlong, from Omega Chapter, presented a workshop on Zambia on Friday.

Delegates enjoyed tours (ask the "survivors" about the Grand Coulee Dam tour) of historic homes, tours for high tea, a dinner cruise, a tour of Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, as well as informal walking tours, shopping, and dining opportunities in the beautiful Northwest.

E. Margaret Gabel, Shirley Newhart, and Marcy Sharpe were members of the International choir which provided moving and beautiful music for the Celebration of Life ceremony and for the Presidents' Banquet.

With learning, fun, fellowship, food, and shopping, the 2010 International Convention was a wonderful experience for all.

Don't miss the next N.E.R.C. in Hershey, July 19-23, or the next International convention in New York City!

"Constitution Passes!"

By Carol Herbert, Alpha Alpha State Parliamentarian

heralded the headline of the final issue of "Lilacs and Roses," the official newsletter of the DKG International Convention held in Spokane, WA. The parliamentary wrangling and discussion, which preceded the passage of this complete revision of DKG's Constitution and International Standing Rules, moved along smoothly despite the large volume of material considered. Dr. Carolyn Rants, 2008-2010 International President, believes that this Constitutional revision will bring clarity, streamline structure, and enable the Society to move forward.

What's new in the governing documents of our Society? Here are a few highlights:

- ❖ A new vision statement-Leading Women Educators Impacting Education Worldwide
- ❖ Reduced number of years as a "professional educator" for membership eligibility from 3 years to 0 years and set no limit on number of years "after retirement" for membership eligibility (This was the most hotly debated issue and the only one to be decided by a counted rising vote-756 in favor, 451 against)
- ❖ Deleted requirement that a prospective chapter honorary member live within the chapter area
- ❖ Deleted requirements that a chapter vote to restore a reserve member to active membership or that a chapter vote to reinstate a former member
- ❖ The parliamentarian at any level (international, state, chapter) is not required to be a Society member, though it is preferred that she is.
- ❖ International Committees were restructured, eliminating 6 standing committees and organizing 2 new ones. However, the revised Constitution confirms the autonomy of state or chapter to establish its own committee structure.
- ❖ The Society at all levels is authorized to use electronic communications to facilitate meetings and to communicate with members.
- ❖ Regular chapter meetings (where business is transacted) shall be held at least four (4) times per year.
- ❖ The Society may now be known by the Latin letters DKG, in addition to the Greek letters, and each individual member is to make the decision as to how to wear Society jewelry.

- ❖ International active dues were set at $40 and International reserve dues at $20. Beginning in 2012, International dues (active and reserve) may be adjusted each biennium based on the USA Social Security Administration's Cost of Living Adjustment (COLA) average for the previous two (2) years, rounded up to the nearest whole dollar.

Tacoma: Where Art and Nature Meet!

By Carolyn Sutton

Alpha Upsilon Chapter members, Judy Schaffer and Carolyn Sutton attended the 23rd Biennial International Seminar of Purposeful Living from July 15-18, 2010. This year the seminar, sponsored by the DKG Educational Foundation, was held at the Hotel Murano in Tacoma, Washington. The hotel was an additional treat because it features works of glass artists on each floor. In addition, we had a view of Mt. Rainier.

Carolyn Sutton and Judy Schaffer admire a glass sculpture in the Hotel Murano lobby

The seminar included trips to three world class museums: Museum of Glass, where we watched glass-blowing demonstrations in the Hot Shop, Tacoma Art Museum and the Washington History Museum. We walked on the Chihuly Bridge of Glass (Dale Chihuly was from Tacoma). On Friday evening, we traveled to the Tacoma Musical Theater for the performance of "All Shook Up" which featured the songs of Elvis. On Saturday, we had our choice of tours. We went for lunch in Port Orchard at the Victorian Rose Tea Room owned by local author, Debbie Macomber. We then traveled to Poulsbo, a charming town located on Puget Sound. We enjoyed the Norwegian motif of this village as we explored the shops. Sunday morning session included a slide show of a nature photographer as he discussed the elements of art.

We arrived a day early so we would have time for a boat ride on Puget Sound and stayed an additional day to attend our own glass-blowing sessions at the Tacoma Glass Studio. Just wait 'til you see our artistic creations!! The next Seminar of Purposeful Living will be in Washington, D.C. in July, 2012.

IN TOUCH WITH TECH

by Bonnie Barnes

Having just returned from our International Convention held in Spokane, Washington, I am excited to report that the use of technology made it easier and more efficient for our attending members. Our main job during this convention was to review the International Constitution, line-by-line, consider amendments, and vote on the final proposed constitutional revisions. A portion of each session was set aside for the Constitution to be read and proposed amendments made, seconded, and discussed. The membership then voted to include or reject the amendment before moving on to the next revision. To make this process more efficient, the proposal was displayed on two large screens so that the 1,400 plus attendees could read the proposal and make informed decisions, yes or no. As a first-timer to an International Convention, this line-by-line process instilled in me the magnitude of our Society and the far reaching influence we have as a Society, "Embracing the Vision; Designing the Future."

At convention there were over 20 workshops and 1 forum covering all levels of technology and how our Society uses the various forms to benefit our members personally or in the classroom. Wikis, Blogs, Facebook, Go-to-Meeting, Leadership Tools-on-the-Net, Tip-of-the-Month, Weebly, 4 Square, and Social Networking were discussed, just to mention a few. The instant availability of information via technology is phenomenal and our DKG website incorporates all. If you have questions, go to our website and click on 'contact us' where you can direct your questions, concerns, or ideas with the guarantee that headquarters will answer.

I also want to encourage you to go to our Society website and register for our Facebook page. This tool is strictly for DKG members to interface with other DKG members and is a safe way to connect and share with our sisters. If you are unsure of how Facebook, Blogging, Texting, Wikis, etc. work, get on the Internet and type in the search area the phrase in plain English to locate online tutorials on a variety of subjects. Make your selection from the numerous listings and teach yourself. It's free and non-threatening. This exclusive DKG Facebook page will enable you to locate and socialize with other Key Women iberry lady-Educators in our DKG family.

Professional Affairs

"Embracing our Vision; Designing our Future," it is also time to begin considering a woman or women within your chapter for Album of Distinction recognition. Refer to the criterion established by the Professional Affairs Committee that has been published in The Keystonean or found online at <http://www.dkg.org/PA>.

Applications are due April 20, 2011.

Your nominee(s) shall have received an honor or distinction beyond The Delta Kappa Gamma Society International between May, 2010, and April, 2011 (exact deadline dates will be provided later). Your nominee(s) can be considered from active, reserve, and honorary members in good standing with your chapter. Your application must be received by the April 20, 2011 deadline date and must contain a detailed description of the distinction and how this distinction fulfills one or more of the Seven Purposes of The Delta Kappa Gamma Society International. You must also include a wallet size color photo (jpeg preferable), not a newspaper photo. After this deadline date, applications will be evaluated and awardees will be notified of their selection in time to register for the state convention, where all awardees will be honored at the Friday Night Reception on June 10, 2011. Awardees and their chapter presidents (or a designee) are expected to attend to receive their award.

Please complete the nomination form found online or check with your chapter president and submit it no later than April 20, 2011. We will acknowledge, celebrate, meet, and greet the distinctive recipients who will be listed in the 2011 Album of Distinction at the 2011 Alpha Alpha State Convention.

Additionally, we also want to recognize those members who have earned their Doctorate or who have achieved National Board Certification between May, 2010 and May, 2011. We will honor these key women educators at state convention. Check with your chapter president for a recognition form or go online and complete the necessary information. Please encourage recipients of these achievements to attend state convention where we will celebrate and honor their achievements and efforts in obtaining their Doctorates or National Board Certification.

Please note:

Omission in summer issue of The Keystonean

Lorraine Hoffman, Upsilon Chapter, was inadvertently omitted in the list of awardees for the Woman of Distinction at state convention in June. We regret this error and congratulate Lorraine on her recognition.

ALPHA UPSILON

Alpha Upsilon's Past Presidents' Project

This past biennium Roseann Currence and Marsha Ewing from Alpha Upsilon gathered much support for their project to benefit Alle-Kiski Area HOPE Center, Inc. Each meeting members donated items for that themed meeting. School supplies, children's clothing, bath and personal products and household goods were donated to the children and women currently using transitional or permanent housing. The members were extremely kind and generous in their donations. The lives of nearly twenty thousand, women, men and children in the local community are touched by the work of the HOPE Center.

SIGMA

Viola Stadler

Spotlight on a Special Sigma Chapter Member

Teaching is good for your health or so it would seem for Viola Stadler, a member of Sigma Chapter and a 40-year veteran of teaching. Viola celebrated her 105th birthday, a celebration which was also attended by her Sigma sisters from the Bloomsburg area.

A native of Catawissa, Viola graduated from Bloomsburg Normal School (now Bloomsburg University). Born in 1904, she was not faced with the opportunities available to today's women educators. According to the Press Enterprise, which did a spotlight on Viola to highlight her special day, when Viola taught women educators were not allowed to marry. Teachers weren't allowed to write left-handed either, which meant that anyone, like Viola who had grown up writing left-handed had to retrain themselves.

In spite of the challenges, Viola spent 40 years as an educator in New Jersey, even counting among her students Bruce Willis of Die Hard fame. Near the end of her career in elementary education, she served as a principal.

Chapter Idea . . .

How can you get chapter members interested in attending the Alpha Alpha State Convention or the Fall Area Conference? What about offering a scholarship? Thanks to funds earned through a Silpada Party organized by a Sigma member and designated for use by the chapter, Sigma Chapter has been able to offer scholarships. The scholarship money is specifically designated for "first-timers" to help defray fall area conference or convention costs.

Alpha Alpha State Enrichment Grant Recipients' Experiences

Donna Winch poses with another well-known musical performer at the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame.

"Cleveland Rocks!" - That's what Drew Carey sings, and I have to agree with him. Thanks to Alpha Alpha State, I had the experience of my lifetime when I attended the Rock Hall of Fame annual Summer Teacher Institute - an intensive workshop for educators where the museum becomes the classroom and rock and roll becomes the teacher. I was fortunate to share this experience with 50 teachers from 17 states and Canada in the house that rock built to learn how I can use popular music in my curriculum at the Infinity Charter School in Harrisburg. The energy was palpable and contagious!

Part of what makes the Summer Teacher Institute so exciting is the diversity of experience that each participant brings. From kindergarten teachers to college professors, music teachers to science teachers, STI brings educators from all sides together to find ways to make learning come alive for their students through the power of rock and roll. No matter where we stood in our careers, everyone was passionate about what they do and they were equally enthusiastic about learning more.

We were joined by singer-songwriter Joe Grushecky, a special education teacher himself in Pittsburgh, who discussed his experiences on stage and in the classroom (and even performed a few songs). Also welcomed was Rock and Roll Hall of Fame Inductee, Bobby Massey, founding member of the O'Jays, who discussed his own career and his outreach work in K-12 schools. Blues musician, Fernando Jones (a professor at Columbia College), the Roots of American Music Quartet, and students from School of Rock added inspiring live performances to the mix.

The mission of STI revolves around the premise that teaching can be a difficult profession and that the challenges are many. No matter where, or what, you teach, STI works to take these challenges head-on, giving educators resources and strategies to reach their students in powerful ways. Rock Hall educators work through our own curriculum models and teachers from across the country (most are STI alums) lead small-group breakout sessions so that participants can learn classroom-tested strategies from those who have seen success with their own students. Each day began with the Rock 101 lecture series - a look at more than 80 years of rock and roll (from its roots to its branches). Once teachers build a solid foundation in rock history, they can begin to make their own classroom connections. And the results can be powerful. I am much energized to take this amazing experience and the knowledge gained to use in my own classroom. I'd like to conclude with these words from a Billy Joel classic: "It's still rock and roll to me!"

Linda Clapper displays a lending library book collection that will benefit children of rural Bedford and Huntingdon Counties. The collection was made possible by an Alpha Alpha State Enrichment Grant.

During the 2009-2010 school year, my Preschool students benefited from the Enrichment Grant that I received in June 2009. Having been an educator in the Tussey Mountain School District (in a rural area of Bedford and Huntingdon Counties) for over 30 years, I knew there was a need for the circulation of books in the children's homes. For several years, I created lending library bags using my own collection of books which were 95% paperbacks and these were sent home in book bags. The Enrichment Grant made it possible for me to include hardcover books for their "aesthetic beauty" and the durability they would have. I was able to purchase several collections of books that included rhyme and repetition, families, math, friendship, wordless, and multi-cultural stories. This grant was very appreciated and will continue to be enjoyed in this next school year.
